Webinar: "Resistance of migrant women in Europe: Structural Violence and COVID-19", 4 December 2020, 5 PM CET, Spanish and English.

Register for the webinar

WIDE+ partner RED Latinas will, with the support and collaboration of the WIDE+ migration and gender working group, organize an online round table at European level.

The webinar reflects on all the forms of violence aggravated by COVID in its first and second wave in Europe, and its impact on the lives of migrant women and migrant women's activism. It will ask what coping strategies have migrant women's groups developed? And what are their main demands and/or proposals?

When: Friday 4 December from 17.00-19.00 CET

Language: English and Spanish interpretation, with simultaneous translation. The session will be recorded for later broadcast.

RED Latinas Presentation: Tatiana Retamozo, President

Moderator: Karen Rodríguez - Network of migrated Honduran women - REDHMI

Speakers:

- Jennifer Kamau International Women's Space, Germany.
- Elizabeth Jiménez - Latin American Women's rights Service, UK.
- Partner: Katherine Muñoz - Exiled and Refugee Women Collective, Madrid.
- RED Latinas: Antonia Avalos - Surviving women, Sevilla.

10 years RED Latinas: RED DE MUJERES LATINOAMERICANAS Y DEL CARIBE

The webinar is part of a series of two webinars that are organized as part of the celebration of the 10 years of the RED Latinas NETWORK, which is a national network in Spain. This celebration is shaped in the form of political action with other migrant women's organizations demanding to political decision-makers to "leave no one behind". Migrant women's living conditions have been aggravated by Covid and the RED is advocating to include migrant women in public responses to mitigate impacts.

On Friday 27 November there will be a first webinar in Spanish only about "Gender Based Violence and other violences in the Spanish state", (5.00-7.00 PM).

The registration link above includes the possibility to register for this webinar as well.
